The Eastern Riots

We have given full details of the action of the lawless reprobates, who have attempted, and in part too successfully, to defy the constituted authorities, and in the name and behalf of the rebel Democracy, to set up a device of secession in the loyal States. Following out the natural and legitimate tendency of the doctrines upon which the rebellion is based, the leaders in these infamous riots have endeavored to show sympathy with the treason which has waged war against the Government. They have failed—miserably, weakly failed—in their disloyal demonstrations. The mobs have become mere gangs of worthless lazy villains, who in their idleness have gladly enlisted in any scheme which promised plunder.

We regret, however, that the Government for a single instant yielded to the demand for a postponement of the draft. In the emergency, we believe that the Administration should have stood firmly by the law, regardless of all consequences. Submission to the popular demand to day only invites resistance to-morrow, and we would have been glad if there had been no bending to the lawless and base pressure.

The Right Spirit.—The Baltimore American, a border State paper, and not tinctured in the slightest degree with "Abolitionism," of which some Northern peace men profess to have such a holy horror, concludes an article on the Vallandigham sympathy meeting at New York, as follows:—

For one, we think it is high time that the Government dealt out equal justice in this matter of punishing traitors. For the horrible and accursed tyranny of Southern traitors—for their murderous course toward Union men—these traitors in the loyal States, too long tolerated, have not a word of condemnation. Life and free speech, all that men value, may be sacrificed or smothered in the pestilential air of "Castle Thunder," as victim after victim perishes down there. the gallows may claim its quota, the confiscation law claim what the murdered leave behind, and yet let any one search the annals of Copperhead doings, and these men never look across the border, in their anxiety to get back to the "spoils" on which they rioted in the glorious days of "Buck and Breck." Within a week or two past sundry "military executions" of deserters—of men deluded by the vile arts of these Copperhead leaders—sadden the public heart as they think of the terrible consequences of this rebellion, and it is quite possible that amongst these victims to the stern necessities of the hour, are better men, an hundred fold, than the notorious traitor from Ohio, or his congeners at a New York meeting who dare to publicly threaten the President of the United States with assassination! And yet, let the people note how these wretches make "mountains out of molehills" as they seek to make the people believe that their lives and liberty are in imminent danger when they know, and all know, that it is utterly and vilely false.

We have said that it is some satisfaction to live in a border State even with all the disabilities attendant on nearness to the seat of war, because the consciousness is at least felt that there is no room for half way traitors, for those crawling reptiles who lie in wait to prey upon the miseries of their country. And when the experiment has been made as in this State, and at Frankfort, in Kentucky, how quickly has it been seen that anything, any phase of treason, such as out and out disloyalty, could be tolerated more readily than that.

Let us congratulate ourselves, then, we of the border States, that the disreputable exhibit made at Union Square in New York the other evening, could not find its counterpart here. We have but one purpose so far as loyalty is concerned, so far as devotion to the Union is the case, and that is to consider the Administration the Government for the time, and to stand by the Government with every aid possible to the end. Every traitor on which it lays heavy hand is one more out of the way, so far as the restoration of the Union is in question, and so we hope that it will keep Vallandigham, the presumptuous ally of Jeff. Davis, in the loyal States, in close quarters until the last vestige of treason is rubbed out. And if it can consign a few more to the quiet of Fort Warren, all the better.

Strong Talk for an Old Democrat.—Gen. Hunter—born in a slave district and before the war a Democrat—concludes in the following radical style his famous letter informing Jeff Davis that the negro soldiers in the service of the United States must, if taken prisoners, be treated as other prisoners are:

The poor negro is fighting for liberty in its truest sense, and Mr Jefferson has beautifully said—"In such a war there is no attribute of the Almighty which will induce Him to fight on the side of the oppressor." You say you are fighting for liberty. Yes, you are fighting for liberty—liberty to keep four millions of your fellow beings in ignorance and degradation—liberty to separate parents and children, husband and wife, brother and sister—liberty to steal the products of their labor, exacted with many a cruel lash or bitter tear—liberty to seduce their wives and daughters, and to sell your own children into bondage—liberty to kill these children with impunity when the murder cannot be proven by one of pure white blood. This is the kind of liberty—the liberty to do wrong, which Satan, chief of the fallen angels was contending for when he was cast into hell.

Letter from Auburn.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

Auburn, July 10th, 1863.

During the last two weeks we have had a variety of weather. Sometimes cool enough to be quite uncomfortable, and again as warm as is easily endured; but at present summer is very decidedly predominant, and the days would be intolerable, only that frequently a breeze comes to our relief. I am sure that it is much warmer than we usually find it in the Willamette valley. This appears to be an unusually dry season through all this region of country. I am told by a friend just from Boise that the emigration from Pike's Peak is pouring into that region by thousands, that they report a very dry time on the plains, and their teams came in very weak and poor, much more so than last year. If this is the case now we may anticipate much suffering among the tens of thousands on the way from the States, who will be sure to find much less than the usual supply of grass and water on the plains.

It is estimated by many that there are 25,000 persons in the Boise basin at this time, and when the emigration comes in the population will be doubled at least, and Heaven only knows what they are all to do or where they are all to go. They have continued excitements to call them hither and thither, but most of these don't pay, and only a few in proportion to the thousands, are the lucky ones.

A friend immediately from the Owyhee country gives me some account of these mines and of the means of access to them. It seems that the road is very rough and almost impassable for pack animals. The last forty miles into the diggings is the very worst of all. One great difficulty is in the scarcity of water and grass on the road, which makes summer travel more difficult than in winter. The mines are situated so high up in the mountains that the only timber is stunted fir. The early discoverers tried to, and seem to have been able, to monopolize the diggings, as they only claimed three hundred yards each in the principal creek—about the size of six common claims. There seems to be very good diggings already discovered, and a vast extent of country that prospects something. In fact all the Southern part of this country prospects in gold more or less, and while thousands leave the Owyhee disappointed, there still are good diggings there only subject to the great drawback of a bad road to go to them, and consequently high freights.

The Snake Indians are in the mountains in great numbers, though they avoid the miners. They are supposed to have their principal camp on the Malheur, upon the head waters of which parties are anxious to prospect, but have been afraid of these Indians, unless in a company large enough to insure safety.

Our County Board met last week and a very uncertain affair its meeting was too; but meet they did, and much important business was then transacted that might have resulted in much inconvenience, had they happened not to meet. Our newly appointed Judge came up and qualified, and it so happened that one of our Commissioners, who had been in Boise all spring, returned by accident and remained long enough to attend to county affairs a bit. So we have an Assessor appointed who will soon be at work, and we have some chances of raising a revenue this fall. Most of the other county offices were vacant, and we now have a new supply laid in to last awhile. I assure you matters generally here in Baker county are in a precarious condition, and there is very little certainty that any person will remain a month where you heard of him last.

This reminds me that our postal arrangements are in a most uncertain fix, too. Last January a Postmaster was appointed, and authorized to have the mail carried at some small pay or other. Parties were found who had confidence enough in Uncle Sam to take the job, and take the chances of a reasonable remuneration, and since the first week in February we have had our mail each week with regularity, and the carriers have received no particle of pay, and the Postoffice has only had some sixty four dollars in stamps furnished. Everything has been done under the greatest inconvenience, and without any pay. Sometimes thousands of letters have been sent off without a stamp, the money accompanying them. Newspapers, we never get any more, and we thank the mail carrier that we ever get anything, and thank no one else.

Now this thing must mend and some attention be paid by the department to this route, or else the mail will cease for want of carriers. I hardly believe that the importance of this office is appreciated in the proper quarter. All the Boise mail comes through Auburn, and Boise letters are sent here by mail. We have a large population of our own to be supplied, and will have a much larger one in three months. We need a regular mail and we demand to have one. I have not received an Oregonian or any other paper for two months, nor has any one else. Now I demand that my news shall come regularly and that our mail be put on some permanent footing, and all Baker county demands it, and somebody is to blame that it has to be demanded.

I particularly call attention to this matter as one of great interest to many thousands of people. For all Auburn has suffered so heavy a depletion, there is a considerable business doing and a prospect of good times soon—Some one hundred men are at work on the ditch, and they promise water by the first of August. Then the emigration will end us some increase of population.

During the last week or so, Burnt river has been prospected and found to have good pay for a large extent, and the mines in that vicinity have established a permanent reputation for good yield.

I saw a gentleman yesterday, who told flattering tales of a couple of rich lodes found in the vicinity of Boise. One on the waters of South Boise, was some 70 miles distant from the towns in the basin, and he, considering it as rich as the Washoe lodes, had invested all his surplus means in "feet," at $11 per foot. This lode is named the "Ida Ellmore," and is not only rich in gold, but promises to be very rich in silver.

Well! prepare for something tangibly and decidedly rich to be developed in this upper region of the mountains, for even if the "Ida Ellmore" is a failure—which I am not inclined to believe—still there are rich mining regions to be developed when capital comes to the work, both in Idaho Territory and in Eastern Oregon.

A gentleman from Granite creek reports good success as attending the labors of miners in Umatilla county. He reports some 2,000 men at work on the waters of John Day's river, in Umatilla county, and that all seem to be making fair wages, while some of the diggings on Granite creek are paying largely. I believe Granite creek to be an excellent mining camp, and as it is blessed with water, and generally free water at that, why it can afford to be prosperous of course, especially as the gold is there to be washed out.

The great present excitement at Granite and Canyon creeks, as well as all about here, is to discover if there is not first rate diggings on the Malheur.

Additional News

The lightning apparatus did not help us yesterday, and all the late news we have this morning is taken from California papers.

New York, July 15.

This morning a small row occurred in Cedar street. The police finally dispersed the rioters.

Quite a serious riot occurred on Staten Island last night. The rioters were hunting negroes, but were really bent on plunder. Several houses of the negroes were burnt, and the occupants fled. Six negroes were killed. Some drinking shops were gutted, and a perfect reign of terror prevailed. No private dwellings were molested, although threats were made against citizens. They are arming. A detachment of the Eighth Regulars with two howitzers, has been sent down to the scene of the disturbance.

It is also reported that in Brooklyn one negro house on Columbia street was destroyed, and a few small houses on Pillary street pillaged and the negroes horribly maltreated.

It is reported this morning that grape and canister were freely used last night up town against the rioters. There were several fires during the night in various parts of the city, nearly all the buildings destroyed being small houses.

An attack was also made on some residences at Gramercy Park, including the house of Dudley Field. A large number of families have left the city, and the exodus continues. The Hudson river trains comes only to Yonkers, the track thus side being torn up. The inhabitants of Yonkers have organized to protect themselves. Two companies are guarding the arsenal at Tarrytown. Union troops are arriving and two batteries of artillery have reached the city.

New York, July 15.—A dispatch from the Secretary of War says Five New York City regiments have been ordered home. The retreat of Lee is a rout, with much heavier loss than was at first supposed. He also confirms the news from Charleston.

Boston, July 14.—A disturbance occurred this afternoon which originated in an assault upon David Howe who called at a house on Prince street to notify a resident that he had been drafted. Some females interfered and beat Howe severely. Meantime a mob gathered and a strong force of police was called out, when bricks, stones and other missiles were thrown, by which several of the police were injured. The mob, however was speedily quelled. As a precautionary measure, the military have been ordered under arms.

Boston, July 15—8 30 P. M.—A mob has just gathered and broken into several gun shops. The alarm bells are ringing and the military rapidly gathering.

An armory on Court Street was attacked this evening. One rioter was killed and an other fatally wounded. A citizen residing on that street, and looking on was also killed. Several persons were wounded. A gun store on Dock Square was broken open but the police, by the use of revolvers, succeeded in dispersing the rioters.

Midnight.—All is now quiet. The rioters have dispersed. No further outbreak is anticipated. The military are stationed in different parts of the city.

Williamsport, Md., July 14.—The rebels commenced their retreat yesterday morning. The infantry crossed on pontoons at Falling Waters, the wagons and artillery crossed at the fords below. The river was not so high as reported. The rebel fortifications in front of this place were temporary affairs and as their line was long could have easily been carried by assault. The people here say the rebels feared an attack, yesterday.

Cairo, July 15.—The steamer Perry, having on board Col Riggin, bearer of dispatches from Grant to the government, has arrived.

We have the following regarding Port Hudson: The post and garrison were surrendered on the 8th of July by General Gardner. Formal possession was taken of the rebel works on the morning of the 9th. The surrender was unconditional. There had been no general engagement for several days previous to the surrender, all having been quiet, except using our artillery, which was occasionally replied to by the Confederates. The rebels are said to have had no beef at the time of the surrender. Mule meat had been dealt out for some days. They had abundance of corn to sustain the garrison for weeks. The magazine contained a large supply of powder, and but a small quantity of shot and shell. The number of prisoners is variously estimated at from seven to twelve thousand. There were sixty pieces of artillery in the various batteries along the river, and in the rear of the place. Many of them were of very large caliber.

Nothing is definitely known in regard to Sherman's movements. At the latest accounts he was still pursuing, and Johnston was keeping out of the way.

Philadelphia, July 15.—The draft in the Fourteenth Ward, Fourth Congressional District, commenced to-day and is progressing quietly and satisfactorily.

New Haven (Conn.), July 15.—Drafting in the First Ward took place to-day and passed off without disturbance.

Buffalo, July 15th.—Vallandigham arrived at the Clifton House, Canada, this morning.

Strategy of Grant.—A letter in the Cincinnati Gazette, about Vicksburg affairs, says:

A few days since Pemberton shoved 100 negroes through his lines. Grant selected the stoutest and best from among the number to be used to advantage either with muskets or spades in their hands, and sent the remainder back for the rebels to feed, with a polite request to the rebel general that he should not try that game any more.

Music and Rifles.—A correspondent of the New York Christian Enquirer, alluding to the fact that the Chickerings have just completed No. 2,000 of their instruments, says:

It is a significant fact, and illustrative of the times that the great manufactory of this establishment, in Boston, is turning out at one wing grand pianos and at the other repeating rifles.

Getting her Rights.—The State of Mississippi was one of the most forward and violent in the accursed work of secession. Verily she has her reward. Her cities and towns are lost to her, her public buildings and railroads are destroyed, her fields are ravaged and left bare, her people are on the verge of famine, and her slaves, from causes having no connection with the measures of the administration, are vanishing from all her borders. She wanted secession as a protection of slavery and cotton, and she will soon have neither slavery nor cotton to protect.—Louisville Journal.

Gross Vanity.—The official editor of the Henry organ at Salem continues his characteristic abuse of the Oregonian, supposing, we presume, that he thus promotes the Union cause in Oregon. His inordinate vanity and self conceit are only equalled by those of the insect on the coach wheel, which imagined it raised a tremendous dust.

Note This.—Not one of the Democratic journals is saying a word of commendation upon, or exultation over the glorious victories of Grant and Meade. They do not like to hear of the triumph of our arms over the Rebels. It is as sure of freedom. If they did, they would say so, for out of the fullness of the mouth the heart speaketh.—Marysville Appeal.

A Chapter on Cheating.

There is a good deal of truth in the following article, entitled "A Chapter on Cheating," which we copy from the columns of the New York Independent, and we commend it to the attention of our readers, that they may better understand how much close shaving is carried on in the great barber's shop of the business world. As remarked, "A petty cheat often repeated, soon loses its novelty, until, being profitable, it soon becomes pertinent," and in this manner a host of small knaveries have crept into business, and some of the cheats are practised by business men so frequently that at last all consciousness of cheating entirely vanishes from their minds:

Thus, false weights are given for true; short measures are marked for full; foreign names are put on domestic goods; fac-similes of genuine labels are pasted on spurious packages; deceptive brands are marked on barrels; false dies are stamped on cutlery; lying dates are registered on casks; old vintages are inscribed on new wines; over values are checked on various goods; wrong names are continually given to a thousand articles in every department of trade by which those who buy are continually deceived by those who sell, and by which the general morals of the mercantile community, as well as the standards of honor among individual men, are insensibly yet not the less inevitably impaired.

Look at the facts! Go into a dry goods store, wholesale or retail, and order twenty pounds of sewing silk; your package, after it is made up and sent home, will perhaps weigh from ten to fifteen pounds, and no more. For, in days when things were called by their right names, a pound of sewing silk consisted of sixteen full ounces avoirdupois, exclusive of the wrapper; but the little bundle now called a pound contains never more than from eight to twelve ounces, wrapper included; so that the false weight is sold under the true name. A spool of cotton, of which the legitimate length as the most frequent stamp is "two hundred yards," will be found on actually unwinding it, to measure only 150 or 175 yards. Ribbons, which originally measured fourteen yards to the piece, and are still popularly supposed to measure the same, are only twelve, and in some instances only ten. Piece-silks and other goods called 24, 26, and 28 inches wide run instead only 22½, 24½, and 26½ inches. This deception is known to merchants, who accordingly are not deceived by it; they buy and sell with the mutual understanding that the articles are not what they purport to be; while by the great multitude of persons who buy but to consume, the false measures are accepted as true, and the deception is seldom suspected or discovered.

Inquire of any other business, whether its minute dealings are more honest. Here is a great hardware establishment; go in, and for a mere experiment buy a paper of cut tacks. Now cut tacks were originally put up in packages containing one thousand each; and packages are still bought and sold, and mentioned in orders, and charged on ledgers, as so many "thousands of cut tacks." But each thousand on being counted, excites a disagreeable surprise by turning out to be only three hundred! Or, ask for a paper of percussion caps;—you imagine in like manner that you are buying a "thousand," while you are actually getting only seven hundred; in other words, you are cheated out of three hundred, or about thirty per cent. of the whole purchase. If you buy an ordinary hand saw or shovel, it will invariably be stamped on the blade "cast-steel," while it is well known to the trade, (and very little known outside of the trade,) that there is not a single particle of cast-steel in its composition! A trace-chain marked "No. ," is actually "No. 4," concealing under a false number, a cheat of one entire grade of wire. So the hardware trade exhibits no great improvement on the dry goods!

Now go among the boot and shoe warehouses. Here is a sample of galoon—a neat little bundle that passes for a gross. Now the ideal gross of galoon contains twelve pieces of twelve yards each; but the actual and vulgar gross in your hand contains twelve pieces of only nine or ten yards each; making 108, or 120, instead of 144 yards. A gross of boot web, which ought to contain nine pieces of sixteen yards, usually falls short the mere trifle of an entire piece; Eyelets that should come 500 in a box have a mysterious way of dwindling down to 250. A side of leather, whose fair and honest weight can be ascertained only when it is dry, is made to weigh a pound heavier by being ducked underwater, or stored in a damp place. Indeed, it is a proverbial saying in the swamp that a million dollars worth of water is sold there every year!" So that the name of the place is not inappropriate to this general wetness. And it cannot be denied that if there was any reasonable possibility of making a customer believe that he had only one foot instead of two, hundreds of dealers would be ready to sell one shoe instead of two, for a pair.

What also of the flour trade? Here, too, are continual frauds in short weight and in tares. When a cooper makes a flour barrel, he marks its weight on the head; that is to say, if it weighs twenty pounds, he marks seventeen. Consequently, when the barrel is filled, and it passes from the inspector as of right total weight, the purchaser is cheated in having bought three pounds more of barrel and three pounds less of flour than he intended. But this fraud is now happily rendered more and more difficult by the present mode of examining tares, in which twenty-five barrels are taken indiscriminately from a large lot, and of these, five are emptied and weighed, and the average weight of one barrel averaged on the whole purchase. But other dishonesties still remain—for instance: Genesee flour took its name from the small town of Genesee, famous for superior quality when the last frequent reputation one of pure white blood. That name was liberty—the liberty to do wrong, which Satan, chief of the fallen angels, was contending for when he was cast into hell.

sell it, flour from any and every county in the State.

In the same manner, flour made in New York is often branded "Ohio;" and the fiction is understood, not by merchants in the article, but by the hundreds and thousands of persons who buy single barrels for family use. In "Richmond cross ploughings," the brand of "middlings" is often shaved off, and only "Richmond" allowed to remain—producing the effect of a partial falsehood, by concealing the whole truth. Moreover, any flour dealer who wishes to be his own government-inspector, and who has no scruple to mark his poorest flour with the brand of the best, can buy, in public store, at the steps of the corn exchange, fac-similes of the irons with which the inspector's official brand is made. What do you say to that?

The wine and liquor trade is still more prolific of deceits. The adulteration of liquors is carried on in this city to an almost incredible extent. You may go into a score of cellars and other places down town and see men with their sleeves rolled up, and actively engaged, with their bottles and casks around them, in the actual manufacture of foreign liquors! No secret is made of it; the fraud is committed in open daylight. Whisky and alcohol form the basis of numerous, and indescribable compounds which are bottled and sold under the names of foreign wines. Indeed, there are well known receipts for making these liquors—by which an adroit mixer can produce an article which will sometimes deceive even a good judge. When real foreign wines have been imported, the casks after they are empty and while they have still upon them the custom house marks are sold at a high price to be again filled with some villainous manufacture, made in this city, and offered in the market as direct from Portugal or France! Nor is this all; counterfeits of foreign casks are made, which are sedulously blackened and made to appear dingy with age and the effects of a sea voyage while knowing spiders spin cobwebs over new bottles, in dark cellars under the street. Many a cask of wine is guiltless of the blood of a single grape; and many a man who drinks from it his brimming glass, swallows only a pleasantly disguised poison which he might have made for himself at less cost, by blending together the contents of half a dozen small vials of oils and tinctures, purchased for a trifle at an apothecary's shop!

OREGON STREET,

Between Front and Davis, Washington and Jackson, San Francisco, Cal.

ALL ORDERS from the Interior, Oregon and Washington Territory, or any place on the Pacific coast, attended to with promptness and dispatch.

MR. SIMS superintends personally all the general put-up of his Iron-clads, and trusts he may continue to merit a liberal share of public patronage. For the information of strangers, he would say that he has been in the business for the last Eleven Years, and can refer to the most respectable firms in California, Oregon, Victoria, and the Sandwich Islands, and to seven out of the ten of the best buildings in San Francisco, fully attested.

Also, a very large lot of Second Hand Shutters, of various dimensions, all for sale at very low rates.

N B—Mr. E. M. BURTON, of Portland, will make contracts for Iron Work in my absence.

DR. BAKER'S

PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oils and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known it to show any deleterious effects, when used by a child in the least. I will continue to use the ointment, which I have used now for many years, for the following diseases: It does cure and relieve Piles, it will cure a bad leg or sore, and I have never failed with its healing properties. The money will be cheerfully returned by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night; it will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dysentery, and your food digests sour, your stomach suffer cutting, take a dessert Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea, to the inflamed parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhœa, or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea, and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful, or belching, hiccoughing, sick stomach, take a dose of Pain Panacea, and it will relieve you.

If you have a pain in the Breast, Side, Back or Kidneys, or in the parts affected morning and night, at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has an infected breast, apply the Panacea as often as he horse.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut, or gall upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea; it will take out all the inflammation and heal the sore in a short time.
